- Linda : I am a fresh student here. Are you a new student too?
- Deko : Yes I am. My name is Dewa Gede Parta. Just call me Deko. What's your name?
- Linda : I am Lina Meilinda. You can call me Linda. It's nice to meet you, Deko.
- Deko : Please to meet you, Linda. Where are you from?
- Linda : I am from Bandung.
- Deko : Bandung? Really? Are you Sundanese?
- Linda : No, I'm not. I'm Javanese. How about you?
- Deko : Oh, You are Javanese. Sorry about that. I am Balinese, but I grew up in Malang, East Java.
- Linda : Actually, what are you majoring in? I am a student of English Department.
- Deko : I'm taking Computer Engineering.
- Linda : Hey, look at that building! That seems the building you have been looking for.
- Deko : Oh, yes, thank you! I have to leave now. I hope we meet again. Good bye.
- Linda : It's pleasure to have met you.

Notes:

 It is not common to use titles (Mr., Mrs., Dr., etc.) when referring to yourself. However, it is polite to use titles with others in formal situations, unless they give you permission to do otherwise. Examples: I'm Mr. Robert Smith. (Title is not necessary here.) I'm Robert Smith. (Better) I'm Dr. Sampson. (Okay, if you want to keep the relationship formal) (After an introduction) Nice to meet you, Mr. Smith. Oh, please call me "Bob."

2. Do not use titles with first names, and do not use last names alone without titles Hello, Mr. Bob (Wrong!) Hi, Bob (Okay) Good morning, Smith (Wrong!) Good morning, Mrs. Smith (Correct)

If you want to introduce yourself, here are some tips that you can use.

- 1. Look people straight in the eyes eye contact is important because it shows that you care and also shows self confidence. Begin with "I'd like to introduce myself" so that you have the other person's attention when you say your name.
- 2. Smile it is important to keep a nice, bright smile (and fresh breath too). Your smile is your icebreaker, it draws people to you because you will look like a happy, stable person.
- 3. Handshake a firm handshake, once again, demonstrates your self confidence, but be sure you don't break the other person's arm or hand (try squeezing slightly with your fingers and not your thumb). Just a squeeze and control hand shake, you will definitely gain your confidence.
- 4. Say your full name and immediately ask for theirs then repeat their name while saying -"it's a pleasure to meet you John" or "nice to meet you Jane" - repeating the person's name will help you remember their name and again, will also show you care. Have a Great Conversation. Make sure you introduce with both first and last names.
- 5. Giving a Nickname is absolutely ok, but never appropriate to say your name is your nickname. It is an awkward joke if you consider it a joke. Always give notice it's a nickname, i.e. "My name's Mike, but they call me 'The Situation'." Or "my name is Nicole, but they call me "Snooki"

- 6. You may tell a little bit of your background in order to start your conversation. Telling someone where you work and your title is appropriate and may lead to many conversation topics.
- 7. In your conversation, do not forget to talk on topics in which the other person is interested in.
